Wind Gap man guilty of raping Monroe woman

A 23-year-old Wind Gap man was convicted yesterday of participating in an October rape and assault on a 30-year-old Monroe County woman.

The jury of eight men and four women who tried Jay D. Dalrymple of 268 Taft St. before Northampton County Judge Michael V. Prunzio deliberated for about four hours before finding him guilty of rape, simple assault and conspiracy.

Prunzio set Dalrymple's bail at $2,000 and gave him two days to post 10 percent so he can remain out of jail.

Dalrymple and his attorney, Assistant Public Defender George Bianco, have 10 days to file post-trial motions.

Dalrymple is one of three men charged in the Oct. 9 attack. Testimony at the trial indicated that the victim got into Dalrymple's car with the three men, either willingly or by force, and was driven to an isolated area of Washington Township, where she was raped and beaten before being driven back to a bar in Johnstownville.

Stanley Mastal Turpinwood, 32, of 1246 Perry St., Easton, one of other defendants, testified against Dalrymple in a plea bargain arrangement. In return for his testimony against Dalrymple and the other defendant, Tadewes Wilkins, 27, of East Bangor, the rape and assault charges will be dropped and Turpinwood will be permitted to plead guilty only to indecent assault.

Assistant District Attorney Daniel Spengler represented the commonwealth at the trial.
